Driving compliance and cost savings through dependent eligibility verification

When rising compliance demands and healthcare costs created risk for a national retail and wholesale employer, Aptia delivered a clear, scalable path to control. The client faced challenges including:

- Thousands of dependents enrolled without ongoing eligibility verification
- Limited visibility into ineligible or unnecessary dependent coverage
- Growing fiduciary and compliance pressure across a dispersed workforce
- A need to reduce healthcare spend without disrupting the employee experience

Learn how Aptia’s dependent eligibility verification program strengthened governance, improved accuracy, and delivered measurable annual savings, while supporting employees through a smooth, high?touch verification process.

Read the full case study

Image
US insight 10th march

View PDF
Case Studies